MARKET UPDATE

The Internal Audit and Risk recruitment market continues to be buoyant with an ever increasing number of roles advertised especially in the Technology division. Indeed some organisations have multiple vacancies across internal audit, technology audit and risk.

One such client who we have partnered with is this edition's featured employer, Tesco.

The Tesco Global Audit and Advisory Team have vacancies for senior internal auditors, internal audit managers, senior technology auditors, technology audit managers and a risk manager.

Tesco is currently undergoing one of the largest corporate turnarounds in the UK and the Group Audit & Advisory (GAA) team are at the heart of this transformation. If you want variety, responsibility, professional development and a real investment in your career, this is an excellent place to look.

The GAA team cover a range of audit work with an increasing request to provide advisory, consultancy style business partnering encompassing risk management, change management, process optimisation and internal control.

The organisation is fast paced and reactive meaning they need auditors who are able to flex across a variety of tasks, drawing on their own and the experience of others to achieve results across different project areas. In a constantly evolving environment agility, teamwork and energy are key.

For details about the roles and the business including a short video offering an insight in to the people, work and life at Tesco please follow the link below:

THE PARTNERING OF TWO OF THE LEADING BRANDS IN THE RISK AND INTERNAL AUDIT RECRUITMENT MARKET

As you may already know, May saw the coming together of CGS Search and Internal Audit Connections under the IAC banner. This enables us to leverage maximum benefit from our knowledge, networks and processes, further increasing our presence and capability in the market. CGS became IAC - Search and the existing IAC business restructures into three discreet divisions; IAC - Commerce & Industry, IAC - Financial Services and IAC - Technology, Risk and Assurance.

To coincide with the change we launched our new look website

The website gives you insights into our growing team, our advisory panel and latest market news as well as providing an attractive, easy to use platform for our ever increasing network at all levels. As always we welcome your feedback, so do have a look and let us know what you think.
